

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Investors who enjoy the OTC and OTCQB marketplaces are often looking for the “diamond in the rough” but end up buying stock in companies with no revenue history, no record of having been profitable, and no products, merely an idea.

Take a look instead at ADM Endeavors, Inc. (OTCQB: ADMQ). Our wholly owned subsidiary, Just Right Products, has been consistently profitable since its formation in 2010, with sales topping $3.8 million in FY 2019, and showing a net profit of over $0.27 million.

Imagine being a Shareholder in a company that you can personally assist in increasing profits with your own personal referrals. Every business and every individual in the world is our potential customer.

While we remain sympathetic towards all of businesses that have been negatively impacted by COVID-19, the virus has not stopped ADMQ. We continue to see increases in our revenues. We have shifted some of our production to meet the increasing demand for medical (PPE) with our printed cotton face masks. Visit www.247365threads.com.

Just Right Products, an ADMQ's wholly owned subsidiary, says it best “We Sell Anything With A Logo.” This ranges from business cards to coffee cups and clothing, or literally any other imaginable product that can carry a logo. Check it out at www.justrightproducts.com. These are products people enjoy buying.

Then check www.admendeavors.com. This will explain more about the Company, its subsidiary, and includes SEC filings. Click on www.fwpromo.com to learn more about this Company's amazing ability to capture what the marketplace has been searching to buy.

Within Just Right Products is the uniform division which provides complete uniforms to schools, hospitals, oil fields and every industry in between. Check out www.fortworth.academicoutfitters.com and www.justrightboots.com.

(All kidding aside, if you know how competitive college football is in Texas, it must be fun in the office the Monday after TCU plays Texas A&M.)

BUSINESS INFORMATION

Over the past 2 years Mr. Johnson, Chairman and CEO, of (OTCQB: ADMQ), has acquired 30.35 percent of the common stock and 100 percent of the preferred stock. This shows tremendous faith in the Company and in Mr. Johnson's ability to grow it.

Please visit www.JustRightProducts.com to view tens of thousands of unique products, ranging from business cards to coffee cups and wearables (t-shirts, polos, caps & hats), health and fitness products, and an incredible number of customizable products for your events and parties. To meet its growing customer needs,

Just Right Products has incorporated state of the art in-house production that is supplemented with factory direct international sourcing.

This is a diverse, vertically integrated business with multiple divisions. The following are all divisions of Just Right Products: retail sales, screen printing production, embroidery and digital production, as well as import wholesale sourcing and uniforms. The good news for investors is that these divisions are operating at less than full capacity so there is plenty of room for expansion and increased revenues.
